

WELCOME TO CAMPUS LIVE

● USING THE PLATFORM

You will never appear on the screen.

THIS LESSON IS ABOUT:

- THE KIND OF WORK YOU DO

Before we begin

Introduce yourself

- What is your name?
- Where do you live?
- What is your occupation?

Brainstorming! What are some words related to employment?

- Interview
- Salary
- Resume
- Employee
- Employer

• Partner

• Workload

• Practice

• texto

CEO

1. Think of more words.
2. Pronounce the words.
3. Spell the words.
4. Create a sentence for each word.

PTO / Leave - Paid Time Off

Manager

Coworker / Colleague

Discuss

- What kind of work do you do?
- What kind of job would you like to have?
- What experience do you have?

The simple present tense and simple past tense are commonly used in employment contexts to describe current and past job positions and experiences.

simple present tense

The _____ tense is used to talk about current employment, job responsibilities, and routines. For example, "I work as a project manager at XYZ company" or "She teaches English at a university." In addition, the _____ tense can also be used to describe job requirements or qualifications, such as "The position requires strong communication skills."

simple present tense

simple past tense

The _____, on the other hand, is used to talk about past employment, job experiences, and accomplishments. For example, "I worked as a sales associate at a clothing store for two years" or "He managed a team of engineers at his previous job." The _____ is also commonly used in job interviews when describing previous work experiences, such as "In my previous job, I successfully led a project to completion."

Simple Present Tense

Complete the sentences with the correct missing word or letter.

1. I work as a sales associate at a clothing store.
2. John works as a teacher at a local high school.
3. She works from home as a freelance writer.
4. They work in the accounting department at a large corporation.
5. The company hires new employees every year.

- Discuss: why do numbers 2, 3, and 5 end with that letter? Explain. subject third person
- Why for 1 and 4 the letter is not used? subject not third person
- Create a grammatically correct sentence of where you work now.
- Create a grammatically correct sentence of where a family member works.

Simple Past Tense

Complete the sentences with the correct missing word or letter.

1. I worked as a waiter at a restaurant last summer.
2. John worked at a law firm for five years before he started his own practice.
3. She worked for a marketing agency before switching to a career in graphic design.
4. They worked in customer service for several years before moving into management.
5. The company hired several new employees last month.

- Mention more time expressions in the past. last summer / previous year
- What type of verbs are used in the five sentences? regular
- Create a grammatically correct sentence of where you worked 10 years ago.

Role Play

You are at a job interview for a sales position. The interviewer asks you some questions. Focus on pronunciation (intonation mainly).

Interviewer: Hi, can you introduce yourself and tell me why you want to work as a salesperson?

You: Hi, my name is John. I want to work as a salesperson because I like meeting new people and I'm good at persuading them to buy things.

Interviewer: Great, John. Do you have any experience working in sales?

You: No, I don't have any experience working in sales, but I'm eager to learn.

Interviewer: That's okay, John. Can you tell me about a time when you solved a problem at work or school?

You: Sure. One time, I helped a customer who was having trouble finding a book in the library. I showed the customer how to use the library catalog and helped her find the book she was looking for.

Interviewer: Excellent, John. Can you tell me about a time when you worked well with a team?

You: Yes, I worked on a group project in school where we had to make a presentation. I contributed ideas and helped my teammates with their parts of the presentation. We received a good grade.

Interviewer: Good job, John. Do you have any questions for me?

You: Yes, can you tell me more about the company and what the sales job entails?

Interviewer: Sure, the company sells electronics, and the sales job involves greeting customers, explaining product features, and closing sales.

You: Okay, thank you for the information.

Interviewer: Thank you for coming in, John. We will contact you soon with our decision.

Comprehension Questions

1. What is the man's name? John
2. What job is the man applying for? Salesperson
3. What are some of the skills the man says he has? Meeting with new people and persuading
4. What experience does the man have that is relevant to the job? a group project, helped my teammates
5. What is the woman's role in the interview? the interviewer
6. What does the woman ask the man to do at the end of the interview? If John have some questionss?
7. How does the man feel about the interview?

Today we learned...

- ✓ To introduce and practice vocabulary related to employment.
- ✓ To practice asking and answering questions related to employment.
- ✓ To practice using basic verb tenses in employment contexts.

● WHAT KIND OF WORK DO YOU DO?

THANK YOU!!

info@campus.live