THIS LESSON IS ABOUT:

- DRESSING CODES

Hello!

- How are you today?
- Introduce yourself
 - Name
 - Occupation
- Where do you live?

Before starting..

- What would happen if someone came to your work wearing jeans and sneakers?
- Is there a written dress code in your company?

Talking about Dress Codes

Answer the following questions and discuss:

- What is a dress code?
- What is the purpose of a dress code?
- Do you have a dress code in your company?

Read the following reasons for why companies still have dress codes. Can you think of another one?

Creating Workspace Cohesion

This allows employees to feel part of a group and lends itself to a feeling of all working toward one purpose.

Reflecting the Company's Goals and Visions

Even if someone works in an office with very little front-facing interaction, the general rule is everyone should dress as if their clients could come through the door at any moment.

Match the term or phrase with the correct definition.

- Dress Casually
 - Business Attire
 - Company Dress Code
1. The rules or policy for what employees can and cannot wear to work
 2. Clothes appropriate for business
 3. To dress in a more relaxed and less formal way

Business Casual vs. Business Professional

Which one do you prefer? Why?

Fill in the blanks with the correct word from the box.

More and more companies around the world are telling (1) staff they do not need to wear a suit and tie. In the (2) last century, most business people and office workers had to wear business clothes. In today's world, that is becoming (3) less important. Companies now want their workers to dress in a more casual (4) way. This is to make staff feel more relaxed, so they work harder. The latest international company to (5) relax its dress code is the investment bank Goldman Sachs. It said its staff could choose not to wear a suit, but asked employees to "exercise (6) good judgment" in deciding how to dress for work. It said the shift was (7) due to "the changing nature of workplaces generally in (8) favor of a more casual environment.

last - good - way - favor - less - due - staff - relax

Fill in the blanks with the correct word from the box.

Many people in business think more casual (9) dress is not a good thing. Justin Urquhart Stewart, founder of the investment company 7IM, said not wearing a (10) suit and tie could give a bad impression to (11) clients and customers. He said: "You're looking after people's money, so you should (12) behave and dress respectfully. I would not expect to hand over my pension to someone in jeans, loafers and a football shirt. It may be old-(13) fashioned but I think it would be dangerous for a business to do that." He added: "If you let people dress (14) sloppily, that is how your brand will be (15) perceived." Many companies, like Google and Amazon, allow their staff to dress (16) casually and wear jeans and T-shirts to the office.
